The Standard Request for Proposals (SRFP) for the selection of consultants are based on the Standard Documents adopted in the international practices for the selection of consultants. The Standard Document was prepared by participating Multilateral Development Banks (“MDBs”) and reflects what are considered “best practices”.

This SRFP shall be used in accordance with the (dissolved) CPA Order No. 87 of 2004 or any law superseded by it and in accordance with the instructions for implementing the applicable government contracts.

Notes on SRFP for the Selection of Consultants

The bracketed texts, with a yellow background, such as {notes to contracting entity or Employer} contains instructions to the contracting entity in preparing the SRFP. These notes shall be deleted from the final RFP issued to the invited Consultants.

As for the texts between brackets in italics with gray backdrop such as (information to be issued by the contracting entity) it shall be for the completion of the final proposal request that will be sent to the invited consultants.

SRFP can be used with several selection methods, including “Quality-Cost-Based Selection QQBS, Fixed Budget Selection FBS and Least-Cost Selection LCS. When using the SRFP as a standard document, the contracting entity shall estimate the cost and complexity of the task and shall take it into account.

The contracting entity shall specify the method of selection before preparing the SRFP. The contract form corresponding to the task shall be specified. The SRFP contains two forms of contracts: a time-based contract and a lump-sum based contract. The contract form corresponding to the task is selected based on the following conditions:

Time-Based Contracts: This form is selected when the scope or duration of the task cannot be determined either because these services are so connected with the tasks of other persons that it is not possible to know the delivery time of these services or because of the difficulty of analyzing the level of effort required of consultants to achieve the objectives of this task. In this type of contract, the consultant provides his services on the basis of time and according to the quality specifications. The dues are determined according to the time that the consultant has done to implement the services on the basis of:

A) What has been agreed upon so that the fees for the consultant’s gross fees are calculated against the unit price (amount) for each individual / month times the total times the consultant made during the implementation of this task, What has been agreed upon so that the fees for the consultant’s gross fees are calculated against the unit price (amount) for each individual / month times the total times the consultant made during the implementation of this task.

B) Refunds shall be calculated based on the actual expenses and / or unit price agreed upon. This type of contract obliges the contracting body to strictly supervise the consultants, as it obliges it to participate daily in carrying out the task.

Lump-Sum Based Contracts: This form is selected when it is easy to determine the scope or duration of the task, and where the outputs required from the consultant are clear and specific, and the payments are related to outputs such as reports, maps, bill of quantities, contract forms or electronic software. Managing this type of contract is easier because of the way the implementation of project on a lump-sum basis against the specified range. However, the contractor shall monitor the quality of outputs in the context of the Consultant's task.
