

- :First: A brief overview of the department

The Department of Turkish Language was established at the College of Arts, University of Mosul, during the academic year 2008–2009, joining the other language departments of the College. The Department aims to graduate qualified specialists capable of serving the cultural, economic, social, and various other sectors of society, as well as strengthening the bonds of cooperation with the neighboring Republic of Turkey.

The duration of study in the Department is four years. The first cohort of students graduated in the academic year 2011–2012. Graduates are awarded the Bachelor's Degree in Turkish Language and Literature.

The Department includes a Video Conference Laboratory, which was inaugurated in 2019 under the patronage of the President of the University of Mosul, Professor Dr. Qusay Kamal Al-Din Al-Ahmadi.

Since its establishment, the Department has worked to build a specialized library serving faculty members, researchers, and students. The Turkish Consulate in Mosul has generously supported this library by providing the books required by the Department, which have contributed significantly to improving the academic environment and have assisted students in completing their graduation research.

Other institutions, including Istanbul University and the Yunus Emre Institute, have also supported the library by donating books. It is worth mentioning that the former Turkish Regional Studies Center supplied the library with a valuable collection of linguistic and literary books, enriching it with up-to-date publications.

Administrative Structure of the Department of Turkish Language

The Department of Turkish Language consists of the Head of the Department, the Department Rapporteur, the Assistant Head of the Department, and a number of male and female faculty members.

The Department currently offers morning studies only. Students begin studying their specialization from the first academic stage. The curriculum includes both specialized courses and general courses that fulfill the requirements of both the College and the University.

Upon graduation, students are awarded the Bachelor of Arts in Turkish Language.

The Department building includes:

- The Head of the Department's office.
- Three offices for faculty members.
- Four classrooms designated for undergraduate students.
- A fully equipped lecture hall fitted with modern educational technologies, including a data projector and advanced communication equipment.

This hall enables live online lectures delivered by Bilkent University (Turkey) to students of the Department for four hours every Monday.

The Department also includes:

- Examination Committee Rooms.
- The Department Library.
- The Free Education Unit.

: An overview of the organization •

The Department of Turkish Language was established in the College of Arts, University of Mosul, in 2008.

The Department grants academic degrees in accordance with the plans of the Ministry of Higher Education and Scientific Research and within the Department's approved admission capacity, taking into consideration the academic qualifications of its faculty members, available infrastructure, and material resources.

The academic degree currently awarded by the Department is:

Bachelor of Arts in Turkish Language and Literature.

Learning Outcomes of the Department of Turkish Language

The Bachelor's degree program is designed to graduate qualified students who are capable of integrating into various state institutions and governmental organizations as translators, in addition to preparing them to work as teachers in different educational sectors. The program also equips students with the skills necessary to present ideas effectively and work collaboratively within a team. These competencies represent the intended learning outcomes of the Department upon graduation.

Furthermore, the program provides students with sound educational foundations that enable them to keep pace with future developments in this vital field. It also prepares students wishing to pursue postgraduate studies in the field of specialization.

In addition, faculty members work to prepare students for the labor market by developing their communication and interpersonal skills and encouraging their active participation in practical field training

3. The applicant must hold an Iraqi secondary school certificate, duly authenticated by the Directorate General of Education in the relevant governorate, or an equivalent certificate.
4. The applicant must have passed the medical examination in accordance with the requirements of the intended program of study.
5. The applicant must be a full-time student. Combining employment with full-time morning study in colleges and institutes is not permitted. Employees of government institutions may continue their studies only after obtaining official study leave from their departments in accordance with the applicable regulations. A student may not be enrolled in two academic programs simultaneously. If such a case is discovered, the Ministry shall be notified to cancel the student's admission.

6. Graduates of the Biology, Applied, and Literary branches of secondary education from the current or previous academic year who have not received central admission may apply, provided that they are not enrolled in evening or private education.
7. Students who were centrally admitted in the previous academic year from the Biology, Applied, and Literary branches may apply through the direct admission channel after submitting official documentation proving that they have deferred or failed their previous study. The document must clearly state that it is issued for the purpose of applying to the Direct Admission Channel Examination. Accepted students are not entitled to request a change of nomination or to return to their previous central admission.
8. All applicants are required to sit for the admission examination conducted by the College. Admission is competitive, and the competitive score is calculated as follows:
  - 55% of the applicant's secondary school average.
  - 45% of the admission examination score.
9. The application period and admission examinations shall extend for one month. Students who have successfully passed or completed the secondary school examinations, as referred to in Clause (6) above, are eligible to apply for admission.
10. . Applicants shall be informed clearly and explicitly at the time of application that students admitted through the Direct Admission Channel will automatically be excluded from the Central Admission Channel.
11. . An applicant is not permitted to apply to more than one institution through the Direct Admission Channel, nor may they request withdrawal or cancellation of their admission after the admission results have been announced.
12. Applicants must successfully pass the admission examination conducted by the College in order to be nominated for admission.

13. The College or University shall announce the examination results on the official notice board within one week after the end of the application period specified in Clause (10). The results shall include only those applicants who have successfully passed the admission examination through the designated electronic portal.
14. The examination results shall be submitted electronically through the electronic system designated by the Department of Studies, Planning, and Follow-up within two weeks from the end of the application period referred to in Clause (10).
15. Examination scores shall be submitted as whole numbers, with any decimal fraction rounded in favor of the applicant.
16. After the admission results have been announced, the names of admitted students shall be removed from the Central Admission lists.
17. The final admission of students through the Direct Admission Channel shall be determined by the Central Admission Department based on the examination results submitted by the Colleges and the applicants' secondary school averages, according to the approved percentages used in calculating the competitive score. Students may not commence their studies until the Ministry officially issues the admission lists.
18. The lists of students who successfully passed the admission examination, together with their approved data, shall be electronically submitted by the Dean of the College concerned, or by an authorized representative, using the official electronic form prepared for this purpose.
