

A seminar at the Faculty of Arts on applied ethics and its role in achieving sustainable development :

As part of its scientific activities aimed at promoting academic awareness and linking theoretical knowledge with practical application, the Turkish Language Department, in cooperation with the Continuing Education Unit, organized a seminar entitled in the department's hall ,2026 ,5 (Applied Ethics and Sustainable Development), on Sunday, April.

The seminar addressed a number of vital topics that focused on the concept of applied ethics and its importance in practical life, highlighting its compatibility with the Sustainable Development Goals, and ways to employ it in the educational process in a way that contributes to building a more conscious and responsible educational system.

The topics of the seminar were presented by a select group of faculty members from the department, namely:

- . Assistant Professor Nihad Muhammad Ashour
- . Assistant Teacher Mohammed Hussein Ahmed
- . Assistant teacher Duaa Kamal Maayouf

<https://www.facebook.com/share/p/1CiaP72kMP/>