

College of Education for Humanities/ Department of English /Post-graduate studies

The department offers an MA in Linguistics and ELT. The programme is designed to provide solid foundations for candidates who wish to pursue a career in teaching English as a foreign language at university level and those who wish to pursue Ph.D. degree.

Students are submitted to an admission exam. The results would set criteria for competition. Once accepted, students would enroll in a two-year programme. The first involves two courses; while the second year is dedicated to writing a thesis in the field of knowledge. The following are the courses which are adopted in the department along with their units:

Course one
1.	General Linguistics	2
2.	English Grammar	2
3.	Phonetics & Phonology	3
4.	Language Assessment	2
5.	Applied Linguistics	3
6.	Methods of Research	2

Course two
1.	Methods of Teaching EFL	2
2.	Semantics	2
3.	Pragmatics	2
4.	Psycholinguistics	2
5.	Computer sciences	2
6.	Seminar	2