

The department of New and Renewable Energies has only undergraduate studies for the time being. However, there is a strong desire to launch the postgraduate studies in the near future.